In the post box this week....

This week we have been thinking about who knows the 'real' us.

My friends because I see them lots, and my family because I have been with them all my life!

I let God see the real me because I try to be kind to him and that's who I am!

People that I don't know very well I will act differently to and my family I will always be the same to.

Anonymous, Abbot

I think that my family know me best because they go through the same sort of life that I have been through.

My friends and family as they are trustworthy and I know they would never tell my secrets to anybody if I didn't want them to. They know the real me and nothing will break that connection.

Sometimes I try to be really grown up because all my friends do but I am not sure that is the real them or not as they act differently around other people other than their friends.

Come As You Are....

What a tiring week! And it's not over yet as we still have the second day of the Year 3 sleepover. They are all having an amazing time and I am so pleased that Mr Collins, Miss Lorenz, Mrs Gayler and Mr McCann have given up their time to sleep over too. It's definitely a very valuable experience for the children and one I am sure they will remember for a very long time.

We had the first of our Year 2 transition days this week and you can see some of our Year 3 boys chatting to a Year 2 in the picture above. It was a very successful day and I am so pleased we have been able to continue this from last year. I really believe that we should build strong links with our local schools and see these days as vital to that. We are also having our Day of Difference on Friday next week and really need some good weather so please pray for sunshine!

We have been thinking about who sees the 'real' us in Thoughtful Time this week and we have had some excellent answers from the children. I could literally have read them all out as they were so superb. We are not going to print the names of the children next to Thoughtful Time anymore as we want to respect their privacy so you will have to ask them if it's theirs! In our weekly tales, Paul has reached Malta and is currently awaiting transport to Rome. It's a slightly odd story involving a snake but just goes to show you shouldn't judge a book by the cover. That's what we have been thinking about this week, being judgemental. It's hard not to make quick judgements about people sometimes and the children are all aware of that as they often do it.

Next week we will be launching our end of year parental survey. We have changed it slightly to follow the new Ofsted framework and we would really love as many of you as possible to fill it in. We have about 200 families in the school and with it being an Ofsted year we are keen to have as many returned as possible. We are also asking you to fill it in online, so please watch the website for the link. It only remains for me to wish you all a very relaxing and enjoyable weekend!

Mr Blackburn & the QE Staff.

From the PSA....

PSA Summer Fair... Thanks again to everyone who helped make our Flag Fete Summer Fair such a success. The weather was kind to us (if rather windy!) and it was lovely to see so many of you enjoying the various stalls on offer. We will shortly be able to let you know the total amount raised.

PSA AGM... Our AGM will take place on Tuesday 25th September and we would love to see as many of you as possible. We also need lots of new people to help with events in the new school year so please let us know if this is something that might interest you.

Can you help?...

We need help with serving drinks at the Bar before and in the interval of our School Production on Wed 4th and Thurs 5th July. You will still be able to watch all of the Play!

We also need help serving drinks to the children on our Sports Day (Mon 16th July or Thurs 19th if wet) and to help with refreshments for spectators - morning and/or afternoon. Please contact the School office if you are able to help. Many thanks!

From the School office....

Team QE Yellow T-Shirts... We are very short of these so if you have any at home that have been borrowed in the past, please return them to school as soon as possible. We need them for the District Sports on Thursday.

Cake tins... We have some unclaimed cake tins from the Summer Fair by the office. We will dispose of any that are still here at the end of the day on Tuesday.
