In the post box this week....

This week we have been thinking about arguing and how we can stop ourselves from doing it!

I argue with my sister a lot but as I'm older, I always get the blame. My sister usually starts the arguments but once again I get the blame.

To start with, it's a joke but it turns into an argument. I don't know how or why the argument happens and I don't even know what it's about!

I think that I can stop or avoid an argument if I don't go near anyone who I know I'm going to get into an argument with! I've been in loads of arguments but they seem to all end happily!

Anonymous, Wey, 5W

I argue with my brother a lot about small things. But those small things get bigger and we end up fighting even more.

I argue with my brother over things like who gets a bigger piece of chocolate, even if the pieces are exactly the same size!

I could avoid arguing by keeping my mouth shut.

James, Carroll, 6D

Why can't we all just get along?

Welcome back! I hope you all had a great half term despite the weather. It's been a very busy week at QE as the Year 6 production has really taken over and some of the Year groups have been doing tests. It's also the last half term for our Year 6 children and we will miss them a huge amount when they go. Above is a picture of Danny, Megan and Hannah and this is one of the photos they took for their ILT homework for this half term. They are producing a book to hand over to our new Year 3 children when they come for the transition days. It's amazing how quickly we have come around to that time again.

We've been thinking about arguing this week as Paul's journey has reached Jerusalem. It's been a gripping yarn so far and the children have been very interested in the mess Paul will find himself in each week. Paul was well known for arguing and that's why we have focused on conflict this week. The children's Thoughtful Times reflected the people they argued with on a regular basis and what they thought they could do about it. As you can imagine, family members (especially siblings!) came out on top by a mile. The children did have some really great strategies and I would be keen to hear from you whether they actually tried them out the next time there's an argument!

You have also had your Day of Difference letter this week and we are really hoping to make this the best ever. We already have some quite incredible activities planned and I hope with some more help from you we can add even more. If you have a CRB and are able to join us on Friday 6th July, please complete the form that went out this week. It's also on our website. We also need help with transport because we need to have a lot of children off site. Adding the cost of a coach really pushes the price up so if you can help, please complete and return the form.

Lastly, it's the Summer Fair next week and the PSA have a website you can go to to place a bid for the auction items. See the back of this newsletter for more details. Have a great weekend!

Sport at QE....

Netball

Ten excited Year 4 girls went to Tormead on Wednesday to take part in a mini festival with Tormead and Rydes Hill schools. It was great fun and everybody learnt so much about playing netball. The Black team drew one and lost one, and the Green team won one and lost one. I was really proud of them all!

Greens: Amy (Capt), Georgette, Kathryn, Ellie and Rebecca.

Blacks: Nova (Capt), Andrea, Morgan, Lily and Ella.

Mrs McManus

Razzle Dazzle Cheerleading

This summer, Razzle Dazzle will be running three summer holiday cheer and dance camps for children aged 5-11. These are days of dance and cheerleading when the participants will spend the day learning and making a few routines of different dance styles from 10am-3pm and perform for parents from approximately 2.30pm.

These are taking place at Albury Village Hall on the 9th, 16th and 23rd August and cost £30 per day. Each day will consist of different routines with a performance at the end so it doesn't matter if you do all three or just one.
