All Quiet on the Sleepover Front ...

I am writing this at 10.24pm on Thursday night as the children are all finally asleep after a very tiring but exciting day. The Year 3 sleepover is a great experience for the children and they have had a really great evening. Miss Hines, Mrs Clement-Smith and I were talking about next year when we will have 90 children sleeping over. That's definitely something to look forward to! Experiences like this are fantastic and I wasn't lucky enough to do something as exciting as this when I was at school so it's great to be able to give the children this opportunity to develop more than just their academic skills. I also want to thank all the staff who stayed late after school to help feed the children and to Miss Hines and Mrs Clement-Smith for agreeing to spend 48 hours in school! I am letting them go home tomorrow for a quick shower whilst Coach Scott and I take the whole year group for some fun games on the field.

This week we have been considering prayer in Thoughtful Time, in particular, thinking about praying for others. This is something the children feel is important and many have said that they regularly pray for others, particularly a sick or elderly relative. It's so nice to know we have such caring children who think about others before themselves. The Thoughtful Times were great too with many children feeling God had answered their prayers at one time or another which is always good to hear.

The Year 6 play is almost upon us and the picture above is a sneak peek at the rehearsals which have been taking place this week. The bits I have heard sound amazing but I never see the play before the opening night as I like to be wowed like the rest of you. It promises to be a brilliant show and it's certainly very loud!

A final reminder that the deadline for representations regarding the publication of Statutory Notices ends today. You should have got a letter about it yesterday, if not the letter is on our website. Have a great weekend!

In the post box this week....

This week we have been thinking about praying for others.

Do you believe in Prayer?

I pray but not always to God because I'm not a Christian. I don't know if that makes me a bad person or not.

What do you pray for?

I pray for a lot of things like for people that I want to win the X-Factor or Britain's Got Talent.

Does God ever answer your prayers?

Once or twice maybe, because there are little things like finding things that have got lost.

DO YOU PRAY TO GOD?

From the School Office....

Lost Property...We will shortly be recycling/disposing of all items of unclaimed Lost Property (including jewellery and other bits and pieces) so please come and have a rummage if your child is missing any items. All named items are routinely returned to their owners. Please check that your child's name is clearly marked in all items of school uniform as names written in biro become very hard to read after a few washes!

School Uniform Update...Marks & Spencer have now added the correct round necked sweatshirt to the site and all colours of PE T-shirt are available. If you have already purchased a V-necked sweatshirt, please contact M & S to obtain a refund. The current deadline for their free delivery offer is 30th June, although we are hoping this may be extended.

Dinner money for this half term...There are still a handful of people who have not yet settled their account. Please make your payment for school meals if you have not already done so. Do contact the office if you are unsure of the amount you need to pay.

INSET Day this Monday, 1st July; school closed to the children.
